Victor Walker, R. C. McMillan and S. C. Cherry, who left for San Luis Obispo a week ago in search of the elusive deer, are back in the city. It seems, according to Walker, that while the deer were probably plentiful in the hills, the new horn which is an annual growth, had hardened unusually early this season and following that hardening process and the casting of the velvet from the horn, the animals had sought the deeper brush at a much earlier date than usual. Walker asserts that there is no doubt that the party could have had at least one deer to show for the trip had they wished to make the effort to drive the animals out of the brush into good shooting ground, but states that the members of his particular party went north more for the rest to be found on the trip than with any intention of bagging a deer.

gers were taken aboard at Astoria, at the bar of the Columbia river, and the names of these were not recorded.

Lose Bearings in Fog
"Fog" was the generally accepted explanation of the disaster. The Alaska's navigators were said to have lost their bearing in the heavy fog.

True to the traditions of the sea, Captain Harry Hovey went down with his ship, when the treacherous fingers of the reef ripped open the bottom of the vessel.

The vessel went down in thirty minutes, the wireless calling for help until the last amid scenes of disorder. Passengers charge that a partly green crew, recruited during the marine strike, bungled the launchings of some of the life boats.

For two hours Saturday night, the survivors floated around the scene of the wreck in life boats and on wreckage, while the steamer Anyox rushed through the fog to their rescue.

The Anyox saved all of the survivors, who were brought to shore. Most of the survivors were in a pitiful condition.

Many had been picked from the wreckage. Nearly all were drenched in fuel oil from the bursting of the vessel's tanks.

On the heels of the Anyox bearing the living came the tug Ranger bearing the bodies of twelve shrouded bodies on her deck. A fisherman's smack later slipped into the harbor with five more bodies and two empty life boats picked up near the scene.

Fog Hides Signals
Speed competition between coastwise vessels was blamed in marine circles for the Alaska disaster, as well as for most of the other half hundred wrecks which have strewn the reefs and headlands of the Pacific, during the last twenty years.

In order to save time, coastwise passenger ships hug close to the treacherous shore line, instead of keeping well out to sea. When the treacherous fog of Saturday night crept down over the Pacific, Captain Hovey lost sight of the flashing signals of lighthouses that dot the dangerous coast.

Nervously, according to Second Mate Dupray, who was on watch with Captain Hovey, the captain called him to the bridge and together they attempted to determine the vessel's position. They were aware of the nearness of Blunt's Reef.

Captain Hovey thought he heard the warning whistle of the Blunt's Reef lightship and sent Dupray to the sounding instruments in an effort to locate from what direction it came. Dupray was unable to get an accurate bearing on the faint funeral whistle that momentarily sent out its mournful warning.

Dupray hurried to the bridge and informed the captain of his inability to locate the whistle. They again altered the position of the Alaska to take her farther out to sea. Then came the crashing and ripping as the bottom of the vessel, forward, was torn out. Water poured into the hold in a gushing flood. The vessel lurched and began to settle.

Passengers in Panic
Startled passengers rushed from their state rooms onto the darkened decks. Amid cries of the terror stricken and the noise of sharp-called orders, the passengers donned life belts and took their positions by the life boats.

The ship began to list and the choppy waves about the reef licked higher. Fearful women and children clung to the tilting rail. The lights went out as the pouring seas flooded the engine room.

Scattered members of the crew, according to Robert Vanwetter, storekeeper on the Alaska, finally appeared at most of the lifeboats.

Many of them, he said, were green at the work of preparing the boats and handling the davits. Canvas covers of the boats were ripped off as nervous fingers failed to unlash them.

Women and children, according to the code of the seas, were given preference in the boats. But there was room for all.

As the lifeboats swung out over the side of the careening ship, scenes of incompetence and disorder were reported.

The first two boats pulled away successfully, but stood by hoping to give assistance to any who might become frightened and jump.

THE true measure of worth in the NEW LIGHT-SIX is to be found in the enormous demand that has existed for this car even in the so-called period of depression. For during the first six months of 1921, Studebaker produced and sold more automobiles than any other manufacturer in the country with the exception of one manufacturer of a well known and very low-priced car.

WORST IS PAST, SAYS
FEDERAL RESERVE MAN

SPOKANE, Aug. 8.—"Prospective large crops and a marked improvement in the final situation indicate that the worst is past," John Perrin, chairman of the board of the Twelfth Federal Reserve bank at San Francisco, declared in a newspaper statement here. Perrin is in the city on a trip of inspection.

"There is now no money stringency loaning rates throughout the world have materially eased during the last few months, while the ratio of federal reserves has steadily increased," Perrin declared. "We are experiencing a steadily increasing demand for agricultural and livestock products, with prices distinctly more favorable than a few months ago, and with wheat, wool and other products moving at good prices."

Kiwanians who attend next Wednesday's meeting at St. Ann's Inn will find it more or less expensive not to sing, according to announcement today by Secretary Herbert O.
Davis. It was stated that close watch would be kept and assessments would be levied upon those who refrain from vocalizing. Fred H. Taylor will be chairman. A number of Kiwanians are planning on going to Los Angeles next Thursday to attend a meeting there in honor of O. Samuel Cummings, retiring secretary of International Kiwanis.

Work was started today by Contractor E. A. Noe on a new warehouse for the Reinhaus department store in the alley between Main and Sycamore. According to the specifications, the building is to cost approximately $2000. When completed the warehouse will be used as a supply room for the Reinhaus store.

The West End theater will be more attractive than ever, if plans of Manager H. E. Yost are carried out. Work has started toward decorating both the inner and outer lob-and mahogany with a gold finish.

Frank Boyd and R. H. Shields have the contract for the painting job.

A palatable, home-cooked dinner is to be served by the Ladies' auxiliary of the American Legion next Friday from 11:30 to 1 o'clock in the I. O.

ner are to be applied to the fund being raised by the auxiliary to de-fract the expenses of the delegates to the convention in Yosemite this month. The ladies have designated the service "a merchants' lunch," but that does not mean it is to be restricted to the merchants of Santa Ana. A cordial invitation is extended to friends of Legionnaires and the auxiliary. Mrs. Anthony Adams is selling luncheon tickets to those who wish to secure them in advance.

of the business opportunity for a trip to San Francisco. They will return probably next Saturday.

those who waited for the showers

WOMAN, THREE MEN
ARRESTED IN RAID

One woman and three men taken in a raid on a lonely cottage a mile and a half north of Huntington Beach last night by Sheriff C. E.
Jackson, Undersheriff E. E. French and Deputies Ballard and Irvine, were brought into the justice court here this morning.

The woman, Annie Jones, was charged with conducting a house of ill repute. She pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $50.
Adolph Schröder, Thomas Purcell and Scotty Osborn, oil drillers, who were in the house when it was raided by the officers, were dismissed from custody when the authorities concluded that they had no case against them. The complaint charged them with living in the house, and this could not be proven. They did not deny that they were there when the place was raided.

Deputy District Attorney C. N.
Moody held that there was no county ordinance governing rooming houses under which the three men could be detained.
Two cases of home brew were found in the house by the officers.
This was confiscated and brought to the sheriff's office. The authorities failed to get any evidence of sales of the liquor.

STUNTS
ON BEACH SANDS

Approximately 2000 persons witnessed the motorcycle stunts of the Orange county and Long Beach clubs at Huntington Beach yesterday.

Seventy-one riders streamed into the oil town early in the day, escorted by "Speed Cop" Melchior and for the remainder of the day they were the guests of the Huntington Beach Chamber of Commerce.

"Hot dogs" and "pop" were served to the riders when they arrived at the waterfront, where a special parking space had been reserved for them.

The program of stunts began at 2
p. m. when the tide had receded and left a wide strip of beach available.

Though airplanes were flying over the beach all day, witnesses declared that the throng of people never raised their eyes from the thrills incident to running motorcycle races in deep sand. Sweating riders, with stepped wrists, guided their cumbersome bicycles through zig-zag courses of stunts in a manner that was a revelation to spectators who had not witnessed such stunts before. The "slow race," lacking perhaps in sensationalism, was none the less interesting to cycle enthusiasts and laymen alike.

Not content with the gasps and plaudits that solo and side-car races brought forth, the clubs staged a friendly game of motorcycle polo.
The Orange County club won the mimic battle of winners by the close score of 3 to 2.

Eventual winners were as follows, according to the records of C.
F. Shook of the Orange County club:

TRADING LIGHT AS
EXCHANGE REOPENS

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The stock market at the beginning of the new week had little of interest to offer. Price fluctuations were not important except as indicating absence of demand for stocks, and moderate selling on the part of professional traders, who without question, quite monopolized the market, as they have done in recent weeks.

An outstanding incident of the session was the pronounced strength in Sterling exchange.

As far as the general list was concerned trading throughout the afternoon brought about little further net change in values.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Few changes were recorded in stock prices at the opening of the market today. There was a tendency throughout the list to work to lower levels.

The first sale of Utah Copper was at 46 1/2, off 1-3 but the stock quickly went up to 47.

Studebaker opened 3-5 up at 78 1-8 but dropped 1-2 to 77 1/2 on the first few sales. A block of 2,000 shares of U. S.
Steel was taken at 74, off 1-8.

Asphalt was slightly lower and made an early low at 50 1-2, off 5-8.

Rails were lower.
Other prices included:
American Sugar, 66, off 1; Hew Haven, 16 5/8, off 1-4; Anaconda, 35 1-4, off
1-2; Central Leather, 22 3-4, unchanged.

New York Central, 69 3-4, off 1-4; Mexican Petroleum, 105 1-4, up 3-8; Atchison, 83 1-2, off 1-2; General Motors, 10
1-2, unchanged; International Paper, 50
3-4, unchanged.

The market closed dull.
Closing prices included:
U. S. Steel, 74 1-2, up 3-8; American Locomotive, 53 1-2, up 1-2; Mexican Petroleum, 105 1-4, up 3-8; Sinclair, 19 1-2, off 1-2; Studebaker, 78 5-8, up 7-8;
Bethlehem, 80 1-2, up 1-2; Baldwin, 77 1-8, up 1-8; Asphalt, 51 1-8, unchanged; Chandler, 49, unchanged;

President Fruit, 105, up 3-8; Northern Pacific, 76, unchanged; Southern Pacific, 77, up 1-4.

CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE
CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Grain prices on the Chicago Board of Trade closed regular today in a dull market. Wheat closed higher due to reports of unfavorable crop conditions and as reaction from the slump of the last part of the previous week's trading. Provisions were higher.

September wheat opened at 121, up 1-2
and closed 121 1-4, up 1-4, and closed 3-4 higher.

September corn opened up 1-2 at 57 1-8 and closed unchanged; December corn opened up 1-8 at 57 and closed 1-2
higher.

September oats opened off 1-4 at 36 1-2 and closed 3-8 lower. December oats opened at 39 5-8 and closed 3-8
higher.

ITALIAN TRAFFIC IS DIVERTED TO CANADA

MONTREAL, Aug. 8.—Italian steamship companies are beginning to divert passenger traffic to Canada because of the United States restrictive immigration law.

Local shipping circles were advised that the Navigazione Generale Italiana had decided to open a direct line between the Dominion and Italy and that its first ship had left Naples for Quebec with Italian immigrants.

DO YOU KNOW ANY OF THESE SOLONS?

Who knows any of these United States senators and congressmen?
Are you a cousin or old neighbor of the senator from Washington or the congressman from Ohio?

Would a word from you bring a personal touch that would cause him to give consideration to Newport harbor?

If you can answer these questions in the affirmative, it is your duty by Orange county to make that fact known to Lew H. Wallace of Newport Beach, secretary of the Orange County Harbor commission.

Wallace and other workers for the harbor want a background of personal appeal for ammunition to be used when opportunity arises for pressing the harbor's claim for federal recognition.

Any one who has an acquaintanceship or kinship with any of the following national legislators is requested to communicate with Wallace. Wallace wants the name of the Orange county resident and his or her address, and the name of the legislator, so that he may have the information and have it at hand in case a situation arises in which personal letters to the senators and congressmen seem advisable.

Here are the United States senators who are on the senate committee on commerce, which passes on legislation concerning rivers and harbors:

Republicans—Senators Wesley L.
Jones, Washington; Knute Nelson,
Minnesota; Borah, Idaho; Maine;
William M. Calder, New York; Irvine L. Lenroot, Wisconsin; Charles L. McNary, Oregon; L. Heisl Ball,
Delaware; Walter E. Edge, New Jersey; Frank B. Willis, Ohio; O. E.
Weller, Maryland.

Democrats—Senators Duncan
Fletcher, Florida; Joseph E. Randell, Louisiana; Morris Sheppard, Texas; F. M. Simmons, North Carolina; Nathaniel B. Dial, South Carolina; T. H. Caraway, Arkansas.
The members of the rivers and harbors committee of the house of representatives follow:

Republican—Congressmen S. Wallace Dempsey, New York; Henry Z.
Osborne, California; Richard P.
Freeman, Connecticut; Nathan L.
Strong, Pennsylvania; Amos H. Radcliffe, New Jersey; Caleb R. Layton,

SEARCHERS LOSE HOPE IN HUNT FOR PRIEST

United Press Leased Wire

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—Father Heslin, kidnapped priest of Colma, was still missing today, and the police as well as his personal friends and the members of his two flocks, one at Colma and the other at Turlock, his former parish, have given up hope that he will ever be found alive.

The citizens of Colma, most of them Italians, today raised $5000, which they are offering as a reward for his return and the capture of the kidnapers.

The police, however, fear that the loved father has been spirited away by his abductors to some lonely spot and killed and his body disposed of in such a manner that it will never be found.

The abductors, they believe, became frightened at the widespread search and efforts to apprehend them and feared either to attempt to obtain the original $6500 ransom which they demanded, or to allow the priest to return alive and give clues to their identity and movements.

The search for Father Heslin today largely resolved itself into a search for an unmarked, secret grave.

LOUISE DRESSER TO HEADLINE YOST BILL

Louise Dresser, celebrated musical comedy star and her equally celebrated husband, Jack Gardner, will headline the show at the Yost theater tomorrow and Wednesday nights, it was announced today.

This is the first time in their careers that they have appeared at popular prices—and it is possible it will be their only appearance at these prices for they will go from Santa Ana to San Francisco, where they will play the Orpheum theater for two weeks, returning to play a two weeks' engagement at the Los Angeles Orpheum before starting their tour of the Orpheum and Keith circuits.

"Meiklejohn and Dunn have been instrumental in bringing to my theater world famous artists such as Hans Hanke and Bekoff and their crowning achievement came when they secured the Dresser act," said Manager E. D. Yost.

"I kindly ask that all my patrons come early—as it is very evident that we will be 'sold out.' I want everybody to have an opportunity of seeing this great vaudeville bill.

"In addition to Miss Dresser and Mr. Gardner, Marion Munson, known as 'the quickest woman in the world,' and her own company will present the comedy, 'Bachelors and Babies,' Weston and Sline, another 'big circuit act' known as 'the upper and underworld pair,' will present the same offering that has been appearing in the country's largest theaters and Jeff and Jeff, one of the funniest comedy teams it has been my pleasure to present, will also be here."

Other cities in the Ninth corps area, which have been designated as division headquarters are Salt Lake City, Utah, and Portland, Ore.

More than $300,000 has been appropriated to be expended at the San Francisco headquarters during the next year, according to Colonel E. V. Smith, organized reserve officer of the Ninth corps area. Arrangements are now being made for the equipment of a large office in the downtown district.

HE BELIEVES IT SAVED HIS LIFE

"I had just about reached the point of despair and did not know which way to turn for relief, when a friend of mine told me about Tanlac and I honestly believe the medicine has saved my life," said W. Q. Atwood, 5114 Long Beach, Los Angeles, Cal.

"For several years before I got Tanlac I was in bad shape, and it just seemed in spite of everything I did I grew worse and finally got so weak and run down that work was entirely out of the question. Then I had a severe case of grip that almost finished me. After that I was an absolute invalid for two months. I was intensely nervous, could not eat, or sleep with any satisfaction, was badly constipated, and, in fact, had become almost a nervous and physical wreck. In this condition I started out for Los Angeles, and on the way down from Chicago my companions thought I would not last until I got here, and when we arrived I was so weak they had to carry me to a room."

"Finally a friend of mine who is a policeman in San Diego, urged me to try Tanlac. Well, it's hard to believe the good three bottles of the medicine has done for me. My pains and nervousness have all left me, I eat and sleep like a child and have gained several pounds in weight. I have a good position here and have no trouble doing the work, for my strength has returned and I am like a brand-new man. I just can't praise Tanlac enough for my wonderful recovery."

Tanlac is sold in Santa Ana by The Rowley Drug Co.

According to companions of Gonzales, Huerta came to the section hand bunkhouse at Crockett, nine miles from here, at midnight and asked for Gonzales, who answered from his bed. Herbert Rankin Delighted With Scenic Beauty of California's Northland

Returning from a 2700-mile motor trip through the North, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Rankin give an enthusiastic account of the joys of the motorist sprinkled with sufficient distressing experiences to make an interesting and varied trip.

Accompanied on part of the trip by Mr. and Mrs. John Daneri, of San Juan Capistrano, and the guests, Mrs. Shrewsbury and the Misses Berenice, Helen and Fanny Shrewsbury, of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Rankin left San Francisco on July 12 for Crater Lake.

Nothing could be more beautiful than that trip up to Crescent City," stated Mr. Rankin today.

"The Pacific Highway into Eureka is a boulevard cut right through the heart of a mountain range, following along the winding Bel river, part of it through redwood timber still untouched.

"But beyond Requa our troubles began. There was a twelve-mile stretch of road up over a mountain that took us three hours to negotiate. The ruts, rocks, chuck-holes, made it impossible to stay on the car seat at a speed of over five or six miles per hour, and it was a test of the endurance of the passengers as much as a test of the stamina of the car. And below us, we once in a while could see the fine new highway the state is constructing, which will be the 'wonder road' of California.

"Beyond Crescent City, the roads in California are excellent, but, for about forty miles they warn you by mile posts that you are approaching the Oregon line. We really became curious to see what Oregon roads looked like, and our curiosity was satisfied within 100 feet after crossing the line.

"The first view of Crater Lake repaid us for all the hardship of the journey. It is of an unbelievable blue. We camped for two days right on the rim, where ten steps would start us down a thousand-foot slide into the lake. Snow banks still lay deep on the ground, so we had plenty of ice-water to drink, and a natural refrigerator for our perishable supplies. The last day of our stay we spent on the lake. Mrs. Rankin caught two beautiful 18-inch Rainbow trout. Mrs. Daneri three, and I snagged two, so we had a feast that night and next morning.

"It may sound strange, but we got all of them trolling with a Royal Coachman fly tied close behind a Bear Valley spinner.

"Every little town along the way now has its auto camp ground, and a cordial invitation hung out to stay while. But we dodged these, preferring to pick out places where we could be alone and enjoy our own little camp fires. Up the coast it was a case of choosing the prettiest, but down the Valley these spots were few and far between."

Before starting north, Mr. Rankin with Mrs. Rankin's brother, Mr. Harold Whitcomb, spent a week at Lake Tahoe and Fallen Leaf Lake, while Mrs. Rankin visited her sister, Mrs. Rodgers, and her little

Redondo Is Objective of Ebell Members On Holiday Jaunt

Equipped with their bathing togery, members of the Fifth Economic section of the Ebell society left here early this morning for a gala day at Redondo Beach.

They were to motor over leisurely and were to enjoy a luncheon wherever fancy willed.

Further plans—the prime motif of the holiday, in fact—included aquatic activities in the fine big plunge at the beach.

The return trip was to be made late this afternoon, or early evening.

The personnel of the party follows:

Mrs. Cora B. Cavins, chairman of the Fifth Economic section, Mrs. Cood Adams, Mrs. Henry Waters, Mrs. Herman Reuter, Mrs. E. A. Walker, Mrs. E. B. Trago, Mrs. Charles Doty, Mrs. J. Raymond Moncrief and daughter, Hester Lee.

Picnic At Glenn Ivy Proves Memorable Event For J. G. Robertson Employees

By actual count there were fifty-one persons present at the first annual picnic of the employees of the J. G. Robertson Electric company which was held Saturday.

Glenn Ivy, a picturesque mountain resort ten miles above Corona, chosen as the scene of the gathering, which called all the employees from both the Santa Ana and the Orange branches of the store which were closed all day in honor of the event.

A fried-chicken dinner was held at noon and was the occasion of bringing to light a number of champion long distance eaters who distinguished themselves at that time.

The afternoon was devoted to various sports, baseball, swimming and hiking all calling forth their devotees.

Those who enjoyed the holiday were:

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Robertson, Olyn and Fred Robertson and Nina June Olyn; Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Trusty, Carl, Clyde, Pauline and Willie Trusty; Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hart and son, and Mrs. Shelby; Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Harper and family; Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Packard, Bernard, Lucille, and Katherine Packard; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Head and nephew; Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Amos, Marc Kentch, Charles Leimer, Gwendolyn Cook, Harold Hill, Evelyn Noble, of Corona, and Kathleen Schowengerdt.

Mr. Rankin reported that he had a very pleasant visit with Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Beals, who is financial manager of the Fallen Leaf Lodge and Camp.

Practical Demonstration of Activities Brings Bible School To Close

Every mother and father who attended the closing exercises of the daily vacation bible school of the Baptist church Friday wished repeatedly that such a school had been established in their childhood days, it is said.

It was the closing program after five weeks of work, and gave evidence of careful and patient work on the part of the teachers as well as marked enthusiasm and interest on the part of the boys and girls, who gave a sample of what they had learned.

All of the singing was exceptionally well done, especially that of the tiny kindergartners, whose welcome, clock and sandman songs quite captivated their audience.

The memory bible verse recitations were well delivered, one small lad reciting six at once. One little girl told the story of David in a very interesting manner, and the dramatization of Naaman, the story of the healing of the leper, in four acts, will linger long, no doubt, in the memory of all present.

Another interesting feature was the drawing of the map of Palestine. Three small youngsters sketched in the rivers, lakes and towns as a chorus, of other children sang about them.

Patriotic songs and the salute to the American and Christian flags concluded the delightful program.

Afterward an exhibit of the handwork done by the kiddies was displayed in the junior room of the church, which looked quite like an exclusive Japanese art store.

Gay paper butterflies, and a variety of artistic things were strung on wires across the room. Painted vases, raffia baskets, papier mache mats, crayon drawings of bible scenes and woven rugs, were just some of the pretty things on display.

The manual training department bore testimony to the fact that some of the boys are quite talented along that line, as set forth in the foot stools, book racks, aeroplanes, boats, birds and swans.

The boys and girls are very proud of their work as are their teachers, and all are eagerly looking forward to another glorious five weeks of vacation bible school next summer, it is said.

The school faculty personnel included:

Mrs. O. S. Catland, principal, and Misses Marie Kiker, Fanny Lee Moore, Marie Hamill, Harriet Owens and Mrs. Mary Thomason, instructors.

Allied Christian Endeavor Societies Are To Honor Former Santa Ana Girl

A gathering of members of the Christian Endeavor society of the Christian churches of Southern California will be held at the First Christian church of Los Angeles on Friday evening in honor of Mrs. Myrtle Wilson Stipp, the "living link" sent to the Philippines from the allied societies of the southern part of the state.

Mrs. Stipp was formerly a Santa Ana girl and, as Miss Myrtle Wilson, will be remembered by a host of friends in this city, where she was a teacher in the schools. She went to the Philippines as a "living link" five years ago and has been home on furlough through the summer months. She will return to her duties in the mission fields of the Philippines, in a few weeks now, and the gathering Friday night will be in the nature of a farewell. A banquet will be served and a social hour is to follow.

Plans for the affair were consummated yesterday at the Southern branch of the state convention of the Christian church held at Long Beach, where Santa Ana was well represented.

Among the local people attending were Miss Isabel Durgan, Miss Josephine Durgan and Miss Marian Gerrard, who were also present at the impressive communion service of over 3000 persons.

Plans for the Friday night meeting were made by representatives of the Alumni association and the regular members of the Endeavor, who met in executive session prior to the convention meeting.

G. A. R. Encampment Near Santa Monica Is Attended By 2000 Veterans

Commander E. A. Bell, Santa Ana camp, No. 12, Sons of Veterans, and Mrs. Bell, and Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Ludwig, attended the memorial services of the G. A. R. at the camp site near Santa Monica, yesterday.

Mr. Bell states the camp is an ideal location, but that there is not sufficient space for all those who would like to remain on the grounds. Many of those attending the sessions, he says, have found it necessary to secure lodgings in Santa Monica and other beach towns.

About 2000 are camped in the canyon, Mr. Bell reports. A well regulated cafeteria on the grounds is contributing to the comfort and pleasure of campers.

Presbyterian Missionary Society To Meet

The Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church will hold its monthly meeting next Wednesday at 2:30 o'clock at the church, instead of holding an all-day meeting as planned previously.

The subject for the day is to be: "The Younger Generation and China." Mrs. W. W. Anderson is to lead the discussions and Mrs. Welborn will make her last address before leaving for her post of duty in the missionary fields of China.

Miss Edith Higgins plans to present a report of the convention which she attended at Asilomar.

Other interesting features are outlined for the meeting and a large attendance is expected, it is said.

Miss Keech Returns From Northern Trip

Miss Madeline Keech has returned from an enjoyable visit to friends in Sacramento, Berkeley and San Francisco. She will be at her home, 319 South Main street, for the week, where she is to be the house guest of the A. J. Crookshanks at their hospitable mountain home.

Miss Lucy Coyle, of Laguna Beach, is a guest at the Keech home this week. Miss Coyle and Mrs. E. E. Keech are sisters.

HEREDITARY FOES SMOKE PEACE PIPE

PENETANG, Ont., Aug. 8.—Friendliness existed today between the hereditary Indian foes, the Hurons and Iroquois, whose feathered chiefs buried the hatchet yesterday and smoked the pipe of peace in the presence of a great multitude gathered on the shores of Penetang Bay for the tercentenary celebration of the coming of the pioneer Champlain. The ceremony ended a feud that began 271 years ago. Chief Ovide Skoul of the Hurons said to Big Chief Andrew Staats, leader of the Mohawk tribe of the six nations: "Now, we go kill moose together," when they had puffed at the pipe of peace and buried the war hatchet beneath a huge red boulder.

The Modart Corset Is Important

—The first important step in wearing a costume comfortably and well is the selection of a proper corset. There are several good corsets, but the queen of them all is undoubtedly the Modart. The Modart is designed to lend support to the figure where support is most needed and mould the form in graceful lines. Whenever there is any new feature in corsets the Modart is first to present it and you are sure of having the right corset if you get the Modart habit. Gilbert's store is Modart headquarters in Santa Ana.

KAYSER SILK MEANS ECONOMY

Ladies who habitually wear silk underwear have learned that there are two important reasons for demanding it. The first is that silk underwear is far more comfortable and generally satisfactory. The second is that it is much more economical on account of its wearing quality. A silk garment if it is of the right quality, will outwear at least two or perhaps three cotton or woolen garments. There will never be any question about the quality being right if you buy Kayser Silk Underwear at Gilbert's. The present showing is the best this popular department has ever presented.

ACCUSES WIFE'S FATHER IN BIG OIL LAND ROW

Declaring that his father-in-law has refused to deed to him a half-interest in Huntington Beach lots worth $100,000, for which $150 was paid, Arthur W. Barry of Los Angeles has brought suit against his father-in-law, J. L. Hecathorn, of Whittier, to compel Hecathorn to make the deed.

Sudden and unexpected wealth through the development of oil at Huntington Beach seems to have been the reason for estrangement in the Whittier family.

At least, the complaint on file in the county clerk's office here, alleges that harmony and confidence existed between Barry and Hecathorn until within recent months.

Barry was one of those fortunate beings who attended an auction sale held by the Huntington Beach company March 7, 1920, when lots were sold at prices that now seem prehistoric.

Bids for Three Lots
Barry bid for three lots—lots 9, 10 and 11, block 1013, corner Thirtieth street and Park place—and got them at $50 apiece, plus $10 for the auctioneer fee.

Barry's complaint, filed by Attorneys Woodruff and Shoemaker, tells Barry's side of this remarkable story in high finance as follows:

Barry paid $15 down. Under the terms he had three years in which to pay the remainder. Talking the matter over with his wife's father, it was agreed March 16, 1920, that the father-in-law should pay $22.50, completing the first payment, and that thereafter each should pay half of the payments, and in the end each should have a half-interest in the lots. All was harmony at that time.

Barry says that he agreed that the father-in-law should handle the deal in the father-in-law's name. So Barry assigned his $15 receipt to him, and the contract was entered on the books of the Huntington Beach company in the elder man's name.

Strike Oil at Beach
In the latter part of 1920 oil was struck at Huntington Beach. That event, which has meant much in the lives of many persons, has also meant much in the Barry-Hecathorn relations, it seems.

Barry says that his father-in-law went to the Huntington Beach company and completed the payments and had the deed made out in his own name.

The lots were leased on a payment of $400 bonus and one-sixth royalty, and now, according to the complaint, oil has been struck, and the lots are worth a cool $100,000.

Barry wants a half-interest in the lots. He says his father-in-law has refused to carry out the trust. Barry has gone to the courts for redress. He asks the superior court of this county to do what Barry has been unable to get his father-in-law to do.

LITTLE BEAR LAKE SOLD TO SYNDICATE

Erection of a big pleasure resort hotel and construction of an automobile road leading to its door is planned for Little Bear lake, fifteen miles north of San Bernardino, according to report of the intention of a syndicate, headed by Morgan Adams, which has purchased the property.

Development of Apple Valley and Appleton, retarded for the last twenty years under the sovereignty of the Mooney estate of Cincinnati, will receive impetus by this purchase, it is believed.

The deal by which Morgan Adams and his syndicate of Los Angeles capitalists acquired Little Bear lake and surrounding territory from the Mooney estate is said to have involved several million dollars. The Arrowhead Land and Power company was the agent.

Little Bear lake was created by a dam built by the Mooney interests more than twenty years ago. Together with work on a tunnel which was never completed, and approximately 10,000 acres of land, it cost more than $3,000,000.

The plan of the Mooney interests was to carry the water "bottled" up in the lake through a tunnel approximately three miles long to the southern side of the San Bernardino mountains, and use it to irrigate the land around San Bernardino, Riverside and Redlands.

The water captured in Little Bear lake, however, came from a number of small mountain streams flowing on the northern side of the range. Because the Arrowhead Land and Power company sought to carry this water from the northern shed over the southern shed for use, farmers on the latter side conducted and won a fiercely contested and long-lived battle in court. The decision in the case has since become famous all over America. It was ruled that "water originating on one watershed cannot be diverted to another watershed against the protests of any resident of the originating shed."

A lease for the quarters occupied by the Orange post office is on record at the office of the county recorder. Under the terms of the document, the room occupied by the post office goes to Uncle Sam for $1200 a year for five years. The lease is signed by K. E. Watson, president, and John F. Lee, secretary, for the Odd Fellows Building association of Orange. The Odd Fellows agree in the lease to increase the number of rental boxes as "public need reasonably calls for increases."

S. A. MEN TAKE PART IN RITES HELD FOR HERO OF WORLD WAR

Approximately twenty-five members of Santa Ana commandery and Blue lodge, F. and A. M., left today to join like organizations from Fullerton in journeying to Monrovia to pay tribute to the memory of the Rev. Clark Marsh, Y. M. C. A. worker during the World War, who died in France.

The Rev. Mr. Marsh entered service from Fullerton, where he was pastor of the First Christian church, and where he was also a member of the Masonic order. For a number of years preceding his pastorate at Fullerton he was pastor of the Christian church at Monrovia, where his wife and three children made their home during his service abroad.

The death of the popular minister took place two years ago, the saddest part of it being that it came on the very day he was due to set sail for home and loved ones. The body arrived from Havre a few weeks ago and reached Monrovia last Friday. It was conveyed to the Renaker chapel in that city, where it has since lain in state awaiting the impressive burial which took place at 3:30 this afternoon.

In honor of the memory of their hero, all business houses of Monrovia closed, and at the hour of the service the entire city paused in its activities to do homage to his memory. At the cemetery the beautiful Masonic service was in charge of the Fullerton and Monrovia Masons and Santa Ana commandery of Knights Templar.

ELOPING GIRL IS SOUGHT BY FATHER

Assisted by Orange county authorities, A. Davignon of Richfield continued his search today for his daughter, Alvina, who, he claims, eloped last Saturday morning with William Dayton.

According to Davignon, Dayton drove up to his house in a Ford touring car and persuaded his daughter to accompany him on a ride to Orange County park. Instead of going to the park, the couple went to Los Angeles, where they tried to get a marriage license. They were refused the license because the girl was not of age.

Davignon believes that the couple went to San Diego after leaving Los Angeles. He says they have friends in San Diego and that they may attempt to get a license there.

GUARDSMEN READY TO GREET MAJOR STORY

Officers and men of Company F, Santa Ana company of the National Guard, were prepared to greet their battalion commander, Major Walter P. Story, of Los Angeles, this afternoon. The major, it was understood, was to be accompanied by Major Robert C. Cotton, U. S. A.

Captain A. E. Koepsel and Lieutenant Jesse L. Elliott of Company F will entertain the visiting officers.

Major Story will address members of Company F at the armory at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

Santa Ana guardsmen want to make their armory a battalion headquarters, they say, and are expected to broach the matter to their present battalion chief this evening.

Sufficient men could be recruited in Orange county to warrant the establishment of a headquarters here, according to the guardsmen. Riverside, Redlands and San Bernardino are about to form a joint battalion, it is understood.

SIX BRUISED AS AUTOS COLLIDE ON HIGHWAY

A brand new Gardner automobile, which had been driven less than ninety miles, was damaged to such an extent in a collision with another machine on Newport road last Saturday night that it can not be sold as a new machine, according to G. E. Dohm, of the Hughes Lusk Motor company, of Anaheim, who made a report of the accident at the sheriff's office today.

The crash occurred at Costa Mesa about 6:30 o'clock in the evening. Dohm was driving north at about twenty miles an hour. A. E. Warren, employed by the White Cross Drug store, was driving south between thirty and thirty-five miles an hour. The two machines met in a head-on collision.

According to Dohm's report, Warren was driving on the extreme left side of the highway, though there was no visible obstruction in the road. Warren's excuse, according to Dohm, was that he was trying to avoid a chuck hole. Dohm declares that when the crash came the two right wheels of his car were off the highway.

Both cars were badly damaged, the new Gardner getting the worst of it. According to Dohm, his car bore a dealer's license. He claims that it was rendered unsalable by the collision.

DAY NURSERY'S SALE OF CLOTHING SUCCESS

"Several hundred dollars will be added to the Day Nursery fund as a result of the generosity of Mr. Sender," today stated Mrs. Paul Wright, matron of the Day Nursery, in commenting on the success which attended the first of the three days on which the clothing will be on sale.

A few days ago, S. R. Sender, of the Smart Shop, donated an assortment of new clothing, including ladies' suits, coats and other wearing apparel, to the nursery, to be used in any manner which the committee saw fit. Members of the Ebell club then added to the collection and today, when the three-day sale began, there was a splendid assortment awaiting the buyers who began to gather at 8 o'clock, the hour announced for the sale to begin.

The sale will continue until Wednesday, stated Mrs. Wright, and if articles continue to be donated as generously, it may be found necessary to continue it longer.

JUDGE GIVES SMALL BOY STRAY DOG BUT—WELL, PERUSE THIS

Dogs may come and dogs may go—but this little dog goes on forever.

And Judge Z. B. West was wondering today if there is something about him that attracts dogs to his home.

At any rate, one little pup has made his home there.

When Judge West returned from a short vacation at Lake Tahoe he found that a little stray pup had made his abode at his residence and that all efforts to lose him had failed.

A Register reporter, hearing the judge tell of the household addition, told the story.

Several calls have come since for the pup, and the dog was coerced into following a small boy home. Judge West thought the case was settled and was about to proceed with the next case this morning when he stepped out on the front porch and found the dog sleeping soundly there.

EMIGRANTS BIG ENGLISH PROBLEM

LONDON, Aug. 8.—England has her hands full in dealing with European emigrants bound for the United States who formerly went in German ships.

Congestion in the ports of the United Kingdom and the recent outbreak of typhus in Russia and the Balkans have caused the United States public health service to be stirred itself. At the present time three American surgeons are at work here, the first public health officials in the United Kingdom.

Dr. W. J. Peitus, formerly assistant surgeon general of the United States, is in general charge of the work with offices in the Consulate. Dr. Burr Peterson will have direction of operations at the port of London and Southampton and Dr. N. B. Robinson at Liverpool.

Duties which the new organization will perform include the supervision of inspection and handling of all emigrants for America and fumigation of ships for rats and vermin. This work was formerly carried on through the ordinary consular channels, but now it has grown to such proportion as to make additional help necessary.

All second-class and third-class passengers bound for the United States must submit to medical inspection before a sailing permit is issued. The emigrants are divided into two classes, viz., the clean and the unclean, the latter being subjected to thorough cleansing and their clothing disinfected. Persons coming from certain countries or districts regarded as "suspect" are detained twelve days.

AMERICAN JEWS ARE ARRAIGNED BY REFORMER

Declaring that "The Highway of National Happiness" may be traveled only after this nation has eliminated the influence of the Jews, the Catholics, and Seventh Day Adventists and kindred religious sects, Dr. James I. McGaw, of Pittsburgh, general field secretary of the National Reform association, last night at the summer's first community church services at Birch park declared in effect that such denominations were endangering the national life by their attitude toward the Bible and the holiness of the Sabbath.

One of the largest crowds that ever assembled at the park listened with the keenest attention as the speaker criticized various organizations in the United States which he asserted were imperiling the country.

The American Secular union, with headquarters in New York and Chicago, he characterized as "the greatest menace in the nation today."

"This organization," he asserted, "is composed of agnostics, infidels and atheists who seek, by means of their organ, The Truthseeker, and other literature which they send out broadcast, to undermine the established Christianity of the nation."

"This, with the Association of the Modern Reformed Jew, the Central Committee of American Rabbis and the Union of American Hebrew congregations, is striving to establish the Continental Sabbath and eliminate the Bible from the schools of the nation."

Choosing his text from the 144th Psalm, ninth verse, the speaker stated that the conflict of the world did not end with the World War, but that the war was followed by the biggest fight of all, a moral and spiritual conflict with the forces of evil. He cited the affairs of all the nations, how anarchy and revolution stalk over the countries of the world and showed how America was in danger of the same thing if action were not taken at once.

"The Christian democracy of America is that which will save her from the onslaught of aliens," stated the speaker, and then defined alien, to be not one of foreign birth but one who is defiant of the laws and the customs of the country.

Dr. McGaw declared that "the three big industries of America, the clothing business, the theaters and the motion picture corporations are all dominated by the Jew, who has no interest in the country save in the money he is able to wring from it."

OIL LAND LEASE ROW TO GO TO HIGH COURT

Attorneys for H. A. Bardeen, of Los Angeles, today filed notice of appeal from the judgment recently rendered against their client in a civil action brought by the Texaco Oil and Refining company. The case is to be carried to the supreme court of the state.

The action hinged on the legality of an oil lease covering seven lots in the Gardfield addition to Huntington Beach. The Texaco Oil and Refining company claimed that they held a bona fide lease on the lots while Bardeen asserted that it was not a lease but an option. He also claimed that the company had defaulted in making certain payments.

Superior Judge Z. B. West, before whom the case was tried about a month ago, held that the lease was duly signed and recorded and that it was not an option. He also held that the matter of time was not of the essence of the contract, that the plaintiff performed all conditions of the agreement and that the temporary restraining order which he issued upon the filing of the action should be made permanent.

The Texaco company made the claim during the trial that it had spent more than $90,000 in drilling for oil on the lots leased from Bardeen.

WOMAN'S MOVE TO DELAY TRIAL FAILS

Efforts on the part of Geo. Dryer, attorney for Miss Mary E. Stuart, Los Angeles school teacher, to secure a continuance of the trial of a civil action which she brought against Ray Walker, W. Frank Linder and the Midway Petroleum company, on the ground that he did not know it was to be tried by a jury and that he had not prepared the necessary instructions proved futile when the proposition was presented to Superior Judge Z. B. West today.

Head and Ruten, attorneys for the defendants, contended that if Dryer had not been informed that the case was to be tried by a jury it was merely an oversight and that the issues in the matter remained the same, jury or no jury. They also held that the jury had been paid by the defendants and that it would only incur more expense to defer the case.

Miss Stuart was called to the stand just before noon today after considerable time had been spent in selecting a jury. She asserted that Walker induced her to sell a lot at Huntington Beach through misrepresentation. She said that she entered into an agreement with him in October, 1920, whereby she was to sell the lot for $700. Walker paid $50 down to make the deal binding and, she declared she had not received any more than that since the agreement was entered into.

According to Miss Stuart, Walker claimed that he desired to acquire the lot for the purpose of raising corn. She says he told her a friend from Kansas would cultivate the lot together with several others which they expected to acquire. He concealed from her, she claims, the fact that oil companies were drilling in proximity to the lot.

Further testimony was expected to bring out the allegation in the complaint to the effect that on or about November 1, 1920, Walker sold the lot to W. Frank Linder for $10, subject to the terms of the original agreement between her and Walker. Miss Stuart was also expected to show that the Petroleum Midway company, as leasee, fostered a community leasing plan and that the lot which Walker is alleged to have sold to Linder was leased to the company.

The plaintiff contends that the lot now is worth at least $2,500. She asks that the court rescind the agreement which she entered into with Walker for the sale of the lot, that she be given $1,000 damages for alleged false assertion of ownership and a quit claim deed to the lot, which would show that she is the sole owner.

L. A. West today became associated with Dryer as attorney for Miss Stuart.

The jury, which is the first to be selected from the new panel, is as follows: T. Z. Howard, L. L. Bruns, R. M. Jackson, Maria C. Osborne, Robert L. Chambers, C. R. Cook, Mrs. Ada J. Rockwell, Mrs. Lilla Ritter, Mary Monroe, Warde L. Leiby, W. W. Krick and Mary J. Morey.

THE SUCCESS of the "EASY"

The decided preference for the "EASY," which is constantly being displayed by housewives is not mere chance or luck. It is due to the principle upon which it is constructed—air pressure and suction.

For the "EASY" VACUUM ELECTRIC WASHING MACHINE does the work of human hands, thoroughly and almost without effort.

The vacuum cups force the hot, soapy water by air pressure through the meshes of the garments and by suction draw it back again. Sixty times a minute this happens with the result that every particle of dirt is promptly and effectively removed. No rubbing, tearing or dragging, or heavy cylinder to lift.

The polished copper tank has a greater capacity than any other electric washing machine. It is placed at just the right height.

The "EASY" is made from best materials obtainable—solid copper, brass, aluminum and enameled steel.

The demand for "EASYS" has become so great that the manufacturers have been compelled to erect one of the largest washing machine factories in the world, with a capacity of 1000 "EASYS" per day.

Give the "EASY" a chance to talk to you in your own laundry without obligation.

You will be mighty glad you did.

to laziness, where man could sleep out-of-doors the year around, where food was easy to get, primitive man's faculties tended to disintegrate. He became slothful in mind and body. Tribal instincts waned. Explorers who came first to what is now the California coast a few centuries ago found the coast Indians of Southern California slothful. For untold centuries life had been easy for them. They too often had found food so easy to get that no effort was necessary.

Tribes of Arizona struggled against all nature in order to live. The Indians grew up tall and straight. They were meat eaters and they grew grain for the making of bread. Along the coast of California, Indians had become fish eaters, and shellfish eaters at that!

Change of Nature. True, they did not live on shellfish alone. There were deer and quail in the foothills, and rabbits to be snared. Acorns and grass roots were secured with ease.

But why should an Indian hide in the brush for the passing buck when he could doze on the sands in the sunshine and wait for low tide and get all the mussels he could eat from the self-same rocks upon which the waves of Laguna Beach and Arch Beach now pound everlastingly?

Thus it came to pass that after many generations had come and gone, the Indian of California was not the same Indian who first migrated to the shores of the Pacific.

These tribes that came out of the desert were doubtless strong and resourceful Indians. They were active in mind and body. Their souls reached out for an understanding of the earth, the moon, the stars and the great glowing sun.

And it is the Indian aborigine who is pictured in the pageant play to be given at Laguna Beach next week. It is the primitive Indian of ages gone by who is pictured. It is an Indian of sentiment, of one who strives to understand.

And all along the canyons and up on the mesas and the promontories are relics of an age-old occupation by this Indian.

How many, many generations ago was Laguna Beach peopled with a strange and active Indian race, with men who wielded the war club and went forth with spear and bow and arrow to wrest his meat from the wild life of the mountains!

Implements Found. Implements of stone have been found proving beyond doubt that in ages gone by there lived along our coast and in our mountains an Indian race of far greater intelligence than was found by the Franciscan padres who strung their bells upon a sycamore tree near San Juan Capistrano and rang them loudly that their tones might resound in the land and call the savages into the fold.

In the plowing of land, in cutting through of streets, in excavations of various kinds, all along the coast, stone metates and pestles have been found.

The stone metate is the commonest of all relics of ancient California Indians. They are found in the mountains and along the coast, but perhaps nowhere in the county have so many been found as along the Laguna Beach coast.

They were found when the highway was cut for paving, a quarter of a mile north of the village. Elmer Jahraus found them on his lot on Laguna Cliffs when he dug holes to plant some trees. Years ago, L. N. Brooks of Laguna Beach and Arch Beach used to plow them up when he was farming between the shoreline and the foothills.

Metates Are Common. Metates have been found here and there, from Old Saddleback to the sea, generally a foot or so below the surface. It is surmised that Indians moved about from place to place. Metates were used for the grinding of food. They were of stone and hard to carry. When an Indian moved he buried his metates, expecting to return to the spot at some later season. These metates were used for grinding acorns and seeds used as food.

But it is not the metates so much as other things that have been found along the coast that point to occupancy by a race along the shore in ages long before Sir Francis Drake sailed the Pacific.

When streets were being cut in Arch Beach by Joe Skidmore and those associated with him, a good many stone implements were found.

Perhaps more interesting than any of them is a piece of stone now in the possession of Elmer E. Jahraus, Laguna Beach realtor.

This piece of granite is about six inches long and about as big around as a banana. It is drilled through it from end to end.

To Roll Buckskin. "I believe it was an implement used by the Indians in rolling buckskin strips," said Jahraus. "They probably put the strip of buckskin through this stone and manipulated it to make the string round."

A stone of somewhat similar appearance was found thirty years ago in a cut made by the Santa Fe at San Juan Capistrano. That stone, however, was undoubtedly an Indian flute. About a year ago this flute was given by Richard Egan to the Orange County Historical society.

Combined with the evidences found along the Laguna coast and in the canyons reaching down to the waters edge, this flute is an argument in sustaining the theory that the coast region was once occupied by a race of Indians of a different type from that found a century and half or two centuries ago.

Egan also has a great stone bowl with a ridge around the rim. This bowl is a striking bit of evidence of the existence of an ancient Indian people of far greater intelligence than was found in Indians of later periods.

Among the most interesting collections of relics found along the coast are those in the possession of William Bathgate and Mr. Pritchard.

The writer of this article was not so fortunate as to see the collection in Mr. Pritchard's possession. As described, however, by Nick Isch at the Laguna Beach store, the collection is but another evidence of the ancient race. Pritchard farms at the mouth of Salt creek, and in that vicinity he has found arrow heads and other relics.

William Bathgate grows beans and barley in Nigger canyon, between Laguna Beach and Newport Bay, and on the nearby mesas.

Bathgate has and fifteen or twenty fine spear heads and fifteen or twenty arrow heads. These spear heads are intensely interesting. One of them, perfect in shape, about five inches long, has been chipped out of what Bathgate judges to be volcanic glass. At least, when the black spear head is held up to the light its edges are translucent.

"I have been knocking around the hills and coast here for a number of years," said Bathgate, "and I have never seen any stone like that."

Most of the arrow heads and spear heads, however, are made out of hard flint, none of which, according to Bathgate, seems to have been a local stone.

Bathgate pointed out one arrow head that he said appeared to be local stone.

Finds Shell Heaps. "Most of these," said he, "were found when I was plowing on the mesa. Frequently I have found what were once heaps of shells, where no doubt Indians once had their camps. Frequently I have found places where evidently some body had chipped a lot of stone, probably making arrow heads or implements."

Bathgate has a real implement, of rather soft material, about three inches long with a hole through it. It was his opinion that this stone was used for working up strips of buckskin.

Another bit of red stone is a mystery. It is flat, a quarter of an inch thick, and in shape is a half-circle apparently broken from a similar piece. The original circle had a hob through the center. It is quite likely that this stone was a part of an ornament.

One of the most interesting finds in the region was made some years ago by Fred Treferen when he was farming at Laguna lakes in the canyon. It could have been a war club, probably was. At least, it was used, no doubt, in the fight of primitive man, such as is to be pictured at the pageant, in making that wayward world, even though that wayward had for him no greater ambition than the keeping of his larger full of meat for the squaw to cook.

OWN YOUR OWN OIL—ENJOY THE BIG PROFIT

—You are not one of those who made 700 per cent on George Anderson's Block 41 and Y. M. C. A. wells drilled last fall in Breckenridge, Tex., because all of the units in those 2 successes were sold out in a few hours' time right in Breckenridge. But—you have an opportunity to join him today in what he says will be his biggest dividend payer—

HELLENIC OIL SYNDICATE

—Mr. George Anderson, the same man who operated Block 41 and Y. M. C. A. syndicates, and who has paid out over half a million dollars in dividends to his unit-holders invites the people of Santa Ana to join him in what he predicts will be his greatest winner of all—The Hellenic Oil Syndicate.

—Can you doubt George Anderson's ability to choose productive oil property, his knowledge of the oil business or the honesty and fairness of the Unit Plan under which he operates and pays profits? Of course you cannot.

—When he says "I believe I will have one of the greatest dividend payers Breckenridge has yet produced," you know that the statement comes from a man who is a success, who has paid over $500,000 to investors and who knows the oil business from the ground up.

—When Mr. Anderson finished his Y. M. C. A. and Block 41 successes he spent three months going over the monster Breckenridge field to find the best location for his biggest proposition, Hellenic.

—He selected 40 rich acres north and east of Ivan. Again his judgment is proven—big wells have been completed all around the acreage. The big companies and independent operators shrewdly followed George Anderson's lead and leased acreage as close to Hellenic as they could get.

—Here are the details on this sterling investment:

SEVEN-EIGHTHS OF HELLENIC'S OIL GOES TO UNIT HOLDERS

—Forty rich acres, four wells.
—There are four oil sands in Hellenic's territory—1,865 feet, 2,240 feet, 2,800 feet and 3,200 feet.

—Hellenic's first well now drilling below 1,650 feet.
—Seven of Hellenic's neighbor wells average 2,015 barrels per day, over one-half of them producing from the 1,865-foot sand.

—Hellenic combines advantages of big acreage and small capitalization—only 1,500 units, $100.00 each.
—Capital is ample and fair.

—Each of last three wells drilled with seven-sixteenths of profits on preceding well.
—For example, seven-sixteenths of well No. 1 drills well No. 2, seven-sixteenths of well No. 2 drills well No. 3, etc.

—After the wells are producing only the bare operating expense is deducted from 7/8 of all the oil.
—$100.00 buys one barrel out of every 1,500 Hellenic gets.

—$300.00 buys three barrels out of every 1,500 or one barrel out of every 500.
—$500.00 buys five barrels out of every 1,500 Hellenic gets, or one barrel out of every 300.

—Hellenic is in proven territory.
—Buy Hellenic now. Get in your order at once.

—Carden, Liebig & Seamans have invested their own money in Hellenic. Banking men in Los Angeles have subscribed. Burbank ranchers have taken units in Blocks. Many people in Orange will own part of Hellenic's oil. This advertisement will appear in Santa Ana for three days only. If you want to actually own oil production and share in its handsome profit this is your chance to do it. $100.00 Units in George Anderson's Y. M. C. A. well sold for weeks at $700 each; Block 41 Units sold for $900.00 each. These two wells are still paying handsome monthly dividends. Hellenic Units, calling for one barrel out of every 1500 barrels of oil Hellenic gets from its entire 40-acre tract (and unitholders get a full 7/8 of all the oil) are now only $100.00 each.

NICO-GARDEN-DUST

Nico-Dust, which is composed of 2.9% Black Leaf 40 and 97% special carrier, is an extremely fine, penetrating dust for Aphids. It is most powerful in warm bright sunshine, when there is but little wind stirring. It is difficult to work in strong wind and, for that reason, best results are attained in this district by dusting in the early mornings. Dew does not especially help the work. Nico-Dust is made by the Walnut Growers' Spray Manufacturing Co. under the particular direction of Prof. Smith of the State University.

100 PER CENT WALNUT CROP PREDICTED

ANAHEIM, Aug. 8.—Within the next few weeks, Anaheim will harvest a 100 per cent walnut crop, George Ross, manager of the Anaheim Walnut Growers' association, stated here.

The Anaheim packing house, the capacity of which has been considerably enlarged by improvements and additions costing $8000, was inspected this afternoon by the association directors. The packing house, it is expected, will handle between 800 and 900 tons of nuts this year, compared with the record crop of 600 tons last year.

The association directors believe it will be possible to dispose of the crop at a good price, probably at the same figure as last year. Although there is a good crop in Orange county, the California total will be low, it is said, since interior districts suffered badly from frost last spring.

The walnut crop was the first product to be cleaned up last winter, due to a slash of 33 per cent in price and aggressive advertising and sales methods.

They went by auto through San Diego, across the mountains through Dixie Land to Calexico, then, up through El Centro, Brawley, Imperial, West Moreland then on up by the new boulevard to Coachella, Indio and Banning.

ORANGE COUNTY NEWS

"THE BIGGEST LITTLE COUNTY ON EARTH"

Things Worth Knowing About Orange County

Cleveland National Forest
The major portion of the Santa Ana mountains lie within the boundaries of the Trabuco division of the Cleveland national forest.

Roughly, the portion of the mountains in Orange county that are under forest control measures seventeen miles in length by five in width.

The upper portions of all of the canyons heading in the Santa Ana mountains are in the forest reserve. In general, this area is very rough, covered mostly with scrub oak, greasewood, sumach, sagebrush and other brushy growth. The canyon sides and bottoms are lined with a number of forest trees, in which sycamores and live oaks predominate. Waterways from far up in the mountains down into the valleys, and in places to the sea, are lined with sycamores, and elders, in places by alders and willows.

The forest service is organized for two purposes, one to protect the watersheds from fire and the other to give the public the fullest possible use of the forest for recreational and economic purposes. In furtherance of these two purposes, the forest service in co-operation with the county and mutual water companies has established a system of firebreaks and trails covered the main ridges of the mountain range.

A telephone line has been built by the federal authorities from El Toro across the range to Glen Ivy on the Elsinore side of the range. This line is connected with the forest service's lookout station on the top of Santiago peak, 5680 feet above sea level. As a part of the patrol system, a government aeroplane from March field passes over the range daily. Arrangements are made for fire-fighting. No disastrous fire has occurred in the Santa Ana mountains for over a dozen years.

Camping privileges for any portion of the national forest are readily obtainable, and people are urged to make whatever use they desire of the canyons and mountains for hikes, outings and picnics.

SANTA ANA DAILY REGISTER, MONDAY EVENING, AUGUST 8, 1921

ELLIS PLANS FAST CARD FOR FANS FOR WEDNESDAY NIGHT'S SHOW

Santa Ana fight fans should see plenty of fast and furious action when Boyd Ellis stages his next Delhi card Wednesday night.

Two main events are on the bill announced today, along with a semi-windup, according to all dope, should provide thrills enough for an entire card. Two good preliminaries are also on tap.

K. O. Swall, local battler, is set for one of the main tussles. He is matched with Sam Casper of Bakersfield. Swall now holds the distinction of getting the bad end of the worst decision ever rendered in these parts when the referee called his fray with Jess Reed a draw at Anaheim last week. The Santa Ana boy won by a long margin.

Leo Morrissey of Long Beach and Battling Nick of San Diego will kick each other around in the other main grapple. Both are good boys and are set for their go.

What looks to be the best bout of the entire card is the semi-windup. Young Dudley of Anaheim, who has been showing a lot of class lately, has signed to meet Jack Sparr, the clever Los Angeles boy. If Dudley can win from Sparr he will be in line for a bigger fight.

Kid Dugan, a Newport boy, will make his first appearance at Delhi when he tackles Kid Gray of Los Angeles in one of the preliminary affairs.

Benny Heller, the Hemet cyclone, will have his hands full when he hooks up with Kid Hennessy. Heller looks mighty sweet with his paws and if he can get by Hennessy the promoters will have a start hunting around for a suitable opponent.

ANAHEIM ELKS CINCH ELK LEAGUE PENNANT

Anaheim continues to lead the Elks' baseball league with an unbroken string of victories.

Yesterday they took the Whittier aggregation into camp, Salveson holding the Quaker batsmen to two measly bingles while the league leaders were mauling Slagle and Heomeyer for nine tallies.

The Anaheim lodge is now safely ensconced in front with only three more games to play look to have the hunting cinched.

Santa Ana is apparently out of the race but plan on a strong finish in the closing weeks. Lodge 794 has three more games, with San Bernardino there on August 14; with Whittier at Orange on August 21 and with Anaheim there on August 28.

Santa Ana lost to Long Beach yesterday, 14 to 7.

EVENING SALUTATION

I praise not those
Who in their petty dealings pilfer not,
But him, whose conscience spurns at secret fraud,
When he might plunder and defy surprise.
—Cumberland.

ALAS, POOR CONGRESS!

Verily the Congress is between the devil and the deep sea. If it repeals the excess profits tax law it will bankrupt the government. If it doesn't repeal it, it will drive capital out of industry and commerce and into tax exempt securities—and thus not only bankrupt the government, ultimately, but individual businesses as well.

No more important fiduciary and economic truth was ever more concisely stated than when Secretary Mellon said, in an article in the Journal of the American Bankers association:

"It is the present policy of the Federal Government not to issue its own obligations with exemptions from Federal taxes and profit taxes, but states and municipalities are issuing fully tax exempt securities in great volume. The existence of this mass of fully tax exempt securities constitutes an economic evil of the first magnitude. Even though the exemptions of outstanding securities of this nature cannot be disturbed, it is highly important that further issues be controlled or prohibited by mutual consent of State and Federal Government."

It would seem to be absolutely necessary either to stop the issue of tax exempt securities or to repeal the excess profits tax law and substitute some other form of taxation. Possibly both these things ought to be done, for already there are enough tax exempt securities afloat to defeat in large measure the purpose of the excess profit tax law.

STIMULATE THE DESIRE

It is not the home-owners that fill our prisons. It is not the home-owners that preach Bolshevism from soap boxes. As has been said forcefully and with truth: "No man in America who ever owned one foot of land ever threw a bomb."

It is not the home-owners that congest the calendars of our divorce courts. A recent study of the divorce evil in Chicago showed that out of 3,577 suits for divorce filed in one year, only seventy couples owned their homes. In line with this undeniable fact that home-owning makes for the best citizenship and the higher ideals of living, a San Francisco banker said:

"When a man applies to us for a loan in order to possess himself of a home, we assume that he is a man of character and deal with him on that basis until we have reason to believe otherwise. Our assumption is rarely wrong. The man who goes in debt to own a home is mortgaging his future because he loves his family more than he loves his comfort and his pleasant vices."

The school educates the mind, the church educates the soul; and between them they build the citizen. But in the strictest sense of the word, a citizen is a man attached by strong ties to his community, and the strongest of community ties is a home owned in fee simple.

To own your own home—to have title to a bit of land—that is one of the most comfortable feelings in the world, that is the basic fact of prosperity. The desire for that ownership is inborn in human nature. To make Santa Ana a better home town and a better place in which to live, let us stimulate that desire that we know exists in the breast of every man who believes in California, who loves California and who wants to attach his family to the soil of California.

GIVING AID TO RUSSIA

Secretary Hoover, as chairman of the American Relief administration, is proceeding with commendable promptness to rush food supplies to the famine areas of Russia. There was nothing else to do.

A population estimated at 40,000,000 or more is already starving, as a result of long drought and crop failure. Russia, ordinarily a granary for other nations, cannot feed herself. The world cannot afford to let her starve, even for prudential reasons. Hunger breeds pestilence. It also breeds social and political plagues. American relief, however, is actuated by charity rather than prudence. It has become our mission to feed the hungry, and the duty will not be shirked in this case, however great.

No public appeal for funds is being made or planned. Mr. Hoover says his administration has all the money it needs for the present, and other American organizations are expected to co-operate. The cost is estimated at $1,250,000 to $1,500,000 a month. It may run far above that, as the winter comes on. If additional funds or supplies are needed, Mr. Hoover may be assured that a nation which is well fed even in a time of business depression, and whose own crops are bountiful this year, will live up to its record of liberality.

THE KING HAS SPOKEN

In theory the King of England speaks only when his cabinet decides he should speak, and says only what it wants said. The government of the United Kingdom is vested in the parliament, and more particularly in the House of Commons of that parliament. The cabinet is supposed to represent its thought and judgment.

But the King of England is King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the Dominions beyond the Seas, Emperor of India, etc., etc. Sometimes the king is not quite sure that the cabinet represents correctly the sentiment of the parliament and people. At such times he has to be particularly careful how he talks. There has just been such a time.

The king denies that he told Lloyd George bluntly that he "could not have his people killed in this manner" in Ireland. Lloyd George denies that the king ever said such a thing. Lord Northcliffe denies that he ever said, through the columns of his London Times, that the king ever said such a thing. But—

It has long been known that King George was dissatisfied with the policies of the cabinet in regard to Ireland, that he was frankly tired of police raids and pot-hunting for police, of riot and murder which passed for war, and of governmental declarations which promised the continuance of these practices for an indefinite period. The world will probably never know just what he said to Lloyd George, but the world does know that, whatever he said, it produced results.

Today there is the brightest prospect for peace in Ireland that that vexed land has known in eight years. The British cabinet is willing to make concessions. The Irish rebels are no less willing to discuss terms.

Americans, and Englishmen and Irishmen no less, may suspect that the king overstepped his constitutional limitations when he spoke his mind to his prime minister, but they don't much care. They feel that the king has said the right thing, the thing that should have been said long ago. He may have strained the British constitution, but he made friends by it, in his own dominions and everywhere else.

THE INDIAN'S INTELLIGENCE

Dr. T. R. Garth, professor of psychology in the University of Texas, who has been making tests of the mental capacity of the Indian, Negro and Caucasian, reports that the Indian has about as good a mind as the white. Heretofore Indian mentality has been generally considered inferior.

The Indian's mind, says Dr. Garth, is just as alert as the white man's. It seems more crude and primitive according to the color test and some other tests, but in general intelligence it ranks high. He finds that Indians surpass whites in the "mental fatigue" test. That is, they are able to continue longer at any given mental process.

This is important. It means that the Indian can concentrate, and mental power is largely a matter of concentration.

This estimate need not surprise anyone who has studied Indians. The whites have always found them brave and resourceful enemies. If they have seldom made much progress in the arts of peace, it has been mainly because they did not care to, not because they lacked ability. Their defects are chiefly temperamental. The record of young Indians in the Carlisle school, the achievements of Indians of this generation in business and politics and professional life, show that they can hold their own with the whites if they care enough about it. One of the ablest men in the United States senate is of Indian blood. Diaz, the ablest ruler modern Mexico has had, was almost a full-blooded Indian, and so was Huerta, the strongest man of the recent revolutionary period.

The will that kept relentlessly to an enemy's trail, that fought bravely against any odds and suffered death at the stake without a groan might carry the race far, if joined with an awakened ambition and a desire for progress.

As To Healers In Particular

San Bernardino Sun
If the "Brother Peter" who has been holding forth in San Bernardino for more than a week is about to move on to other fields, perhaps his own action will furnish a solution of one of the most troublesome problems that has been brought to the attention of municipal and health authorities. If this so-called healer has any gift by which his ministrations bring relief to the suffering, it is hardly less than criminal that they experience such suffering and exhaustion as has been the rule among those who waited for hours and sometimes days in their effort to reach him. If, on the contrary, there is nothing but disappointment for them in the end, then it were better that a compulsory finish be made of the situation, and at once.

That is the pitiable, the heart-touching feature of what has happened out in Pine street. One could wish a thousand times that the lame and the halt and the blind and the sick and the suffering might come and find relief, and in the very nature of the case nine-tenths of the applicants were those for whom medicine and surgery held out no hope. But to see them come from every direction, and be brought from long distances in the hope that some miracle of healing would be wrought and at last be disappointed, sets up a condition that seems to call for interference.

As for ourselves, The Sun has yet to learn of a single actually authenticated case of a genuine cure being effected. We do not believe there has been one. There have been some surprising developments, and in a few cases people apparently unable to walk have left their cots or stretchers, but it is our opinion that in every case such action was the result of excitement based on the hope of results, and when that has passed, conditions will be as before.

Nothing has come to light which would indicate that "Brother Peter" is a fakir for revenue. It is more likely that he is a harmless old man with slightly unbalanced notions of his mission in life, and that he hopes and probably thinks he is doing good. But if he is mistaken, then means ought to be found to put an end to the added suffering of those who come, mistakenly hoping to find relief for their ills.

World War Most Appalling

Long Beach Press
Throughout the centuries to come mankind will regard the seven-year period, from 1914 to 1921, as covering and embodying the most appalling tragedy in the history of mankind. The seventh anniversary of the beginning of the World War finds peace movements with greater momentum and greater hope of successful achievement than ever before. President Harding, speaking at the Pilgrim tercentenary celebration, voiced his faith in the success of the forthcoming disarmament conference. Formal peace between the United States and the Central Powers seems well to be concluded. The devastations of the war rapidly are being surveyed and rehabilitation is in full swing.

A tragedy so far flung and so horrible necessarily dislocated economic machinery and put the whole world in turmoil from which immediate recovery was impossible. There had to be much agonizing, even after the armistice was signed. But the agonizing is passing. Normalcy is on its return march. Slowly, but surely, the activities of peace are coming into evidence. And throughout America and throughout Europe—and it is to be hoped, throughout Asia—there is a mighty volume of crystallized sentiment against warfare and for the establishment of permanent peace on a basis of justice and equity among the nations.

Seven years after the curtain raised on the greatest tragedy in human annals, the world is yearning so to set the stage of international affairs that there may never again be a return engagement of this terrible drama of blood, and anguish, and ruin.

WHY ANY LIMIT

It is a good thing that when we look out into the air our eyes are unable to mark out limits to our vision.

There are limits, of course, but the wise Creator chose to melt them into the beauty of the All, so that nothing might be reflected back to the brain to discourage it in its aspirations.

The creative mind never knows where to stop. If it did, its life would begin to crumble.

Alexander bemoaned the fact that after he had conquered a few small territories, there were no new worlds to conquer. But history now smiles at his short vision. He mistook the shadow of his achievements for the surface of a world he knew nothing of.

The man who attracts us most is he whose limitations are no measurement to anything that he may think or do.

We pass that one by whose boundaries have been set and staked. It is well that after we have failed a hundred or a thousand times, we may yet fail again—and win!

Limitations indeed we may have, and know them all too well—but no intrepid man would ever acknowledge them, excepting to himself. Perhaps even then, as life unfolds, some day he might discover further ranges of vision through his soul-seeing eye, able to lead him beyond any thing he had yet dreamed about.

So that after all, why place any limits? Are not all limits in the hands of Someone far wiser than any of us?

Economic Value of a Smile

Minneapolis Journal

The London Morning Post advises those depressed by the heat of labor troubles or financial worries, to take a walk through Whitechapel, where they will find on the notice board of a certain church the following recipe of economy:

"It is easier to smile than frown. To frown you use sixty-four muscles, but only thirteen to smile."

From the mere physical point of view, it is good economy to keep smiling, even when things go against you. But the economy of a smile reaches much farther than this. It is not so much what one says as the way one says it, that makes the difference. A man may feel soberly attired in heart and mind, but it does not pay to let it be known to his customers or friends.

Mark Twain represents the beginning of a beautiful friendship among boys in this way. Huck Finn says to the stranger boy, "You lie," and this is followed by the repartee, "You're another." After this exchange of greetings, the boys feel acquainted. Such inverted methods of procedure would hardly be successful in business or the social world. A frown is simply an inverted smile. To carry it habitually is much as if a man should cover himself with a steel plate, or wear his skeleton on the outside. On the other hand, there is something social in a smile. It is as welcome and inviting as the sunshine on a dark day. It is witness that its possessor is willing to go half way. Laughter may burst into peals and as quickly pass away, and humor may roll back for a moment and end in silliness. But a smile is the symbol of radiant cheerfulness. It is a personal and social asset. It is one of the best forms of economy, for it costs little and it pays big.

Bear Stories for Bedtime

CHAPTER 108
BILLY BEAR GETS ACQUAINTED WITH THE FORD
By Harvey Elliott

Billy Bear began to feel lonesome sitting in the tree. Peter Rabbit was gone and so was the Ford man. It looked as if the fun were all over. The only thing of special interest that he could see was that Ford car in the ditch at the side of the road. Billy was curious to examine that wheeled concern to see if it was really alive.

Billy Bear climbed down the tree with the full intention of studying that Ford. He stroled over rather cautiously. He stopped at the side of the road and looked the thing over. It never moved. Then Billy gave two or three "woofs" to see if he could waken it up, but still it didn't move. The thing wasn't alive any more than Farmer Smith's old wagon. Billy was just as sure of that as he could be.

Billy Bear then felt very brave. He went right over and sniffed at it in two or three places. It had a funny smell, but still he wasn't afraid. He pushed in and pulled out the little buttons and wondered what they were for. When he touched one of the buttons he saw a little flash of fire right at his nose. He had turned on the dashlight.

Billy blinked his eyes and began to feel queer. He climbed out as fast as he could and walked around in front. The car felt queerer still. There were two fiery eyes looking right into his. Billy thought the beast had wakened up, and he was afraid of what it might do next.

Billy got from in front of the Ford and walked around behind where it couldn't see. And, what do you think? Well, sir, there was a little red ball of fire looking at him from behind. The tail-light was on, too!

"This is no place for Billy Bear," he said to himself. "I've got no business with an animal like that. Good-bye!"

With that Billy started for the woods. He was too curious to go home just yet. So he sat down at a safe distance to watch what the thing would do. He sat for a long while. It didn't do anything but sit there in the ditch.

"I'm not afraid," said Billy. "Just watch me go over and poke his eyes out!"

Then Billy went back to learn some more things about a Ford automobile. "A fellow will never learn anything," he said, "by just sitting around."
